

GOVERNOR HUNTS THROUGH PRISON TO FREE LONG FORGOTTEN CONVICTS

The "dean" of Georgia's convicts, Milliard Dixon, a negro who has served 34 years and who was paroled by Gov. John M. Slaton, in his work of clearing the penitentiary of "forgotten convicts." The judge and all court officers of Dixon's trial are dead. Below is a picture of Gov. Slaton.